

Of glass, skills and life: Craft consciousness among Firozabad's glassworkers. Arnaud Kaba in collaboration with Shankare Gowda. IFP/CSH, CSH-IFP Working Papers - 18.

ERRATUM

Page 9: A deeper research on archives shows that the Japanese did not only make the blueprints of the ovens but that a Japanese expert was present in Firozabad. Also, the Austrian expert's name was Mozina. Finally, saying that German technologies were applied to the chemical mixes was incorrect as further research showed that both chemical and furnace technologies had at that time probably been inspired by many European influences, not only Germany.

Page 30: Deeper cross-checking of oral historical interviews showed that the CITU leader who got killed in 1983 is named Baba Shiv Kumar and was killed in a police lathi charge. Raja Ram Yadav was an MLA, also killed by industrialist's goons, in 1972
