

Ancient Central Asia and Beyond

Lecture series January to July 2021 organized by the

Hellenistic Central Asia Research Network (HCARN)

-
- 26 May Bukhara between Antiquity and the Middle Ages: Results of the 2020 season of excavations in the 'shahristan' of Bukhara
Sören Stark, Djamal Mirzaakhmedov, Sirodj Mirzaakhmedov, Asan Torgoev
Institute for the Study of the Ancient World, New York, Academy of Sciences of Uzbekistan, Institute of Archaeology, Samarqand and State Hermitage, Saint Peterburg
- 9 June Migrating Lexical Terms and Sino-Iranian Contacts
Milad Abedi
Institute of Asian and Oriental Studies, University of Zurich
- 23 June The temple inscriptions at Sehyak, Afghanistan, and their context
Mitchell Allen, Rachel Mairs, Lauren Morris, and Michael Zellmann-Rohrer
Smithsonian Institution and University of California, Berkeley; Department of Classics, University of Reading; Seminar für Alte Geschichte, University of Freiburg; Ioannou Centre for Classical and Byzantine Studies, University of Oxford
- 7 July News on the Niche Temple at Ai Khanoum
Laurianne Martinez-Sève
French School at Athens

The lectures will be held on Wednesdays on Zoom at 15:00 CEST, and are planned to have a maximum duration of one hour including discussion. Please check bactria.org on the day of the lecture for the Zoom link.

The lecture series will be continued in September 2021, after a summer break. Please check the HCARN facebook group or bactria.org for updates.