About CERME13

The thirteenth Congress of European Research in Mathematics Education (CERME13) took place in Budapest, Hungary, from 10 to 14 July 2023. It was organised by the Alfréd Rényi Institute of Mathematics, hosted by the Eötvös Loránd University, and attracted 941 participants. Paul Drijvers and Hanna Palmér were chair and co-chair of the International Programme Committee, which included Federica Ferretti, Eirini Geraniou, Katalin Gosztonyi, Thomas Hausberger (from August 2022), Jeremy Hodgen, Sibel Kazak, Esther Levenson, Bozena Maj-Tatsis, Simon Modeste (until August 2022), Juuso Henrik Nieminen, and Florian Schacht. Csaba Csapodi chaired the Local Organizing Committee, which was co-chaired by Katalin Gosztonyi and Ödön Vancsó.

CERME13 hosted 27 Thematic Working Groups, listed in Table 1. New TWGs were TWG28 on Collaborative Settings in Mathematics Teacher Education and TWG29 on Embodied and Material Studies of Mathematical Behaviour. TWG7 on Mathematics for work, society and personal development: lifelong learning was suppressed this edition, but will reappear at CERME14. TWG11 on algorithms merged with TWG16 on Learning mathematics with technology and other resources. In total, CERME13 had 143 TWG (co-)leaders, who did an extremely valuable job which is key to CERME's success. The conference was preceded by the YERME-day for young researchers in ERME, that attracted 150 participants. Altogether, CERME13 was a success both in academic terms and in social atmosphere, which the European mathematics education research community enjoyed.

Editorial information

These proceedings are available as a complete volume on the ERME website. Each individual contribution is also available through the HAL open archive, where it can be found through keywords, title, or author name. This has been the practice since CERME9, to increase the visibility of the huge work done in CERME conferences.

After the preface by the president of ERME, Carl Winsløw, and this brief introduction by the proceedings editors, this volume continues with texts on two plenary activities of CERME13: the plenary lecture by Berta Barquero entitled “Mathematical modelling as a research field: Transposition challenges and future directions,” and the report on the Panel on “Bridging the research-practice gap,” chaired by João Pedro da Ponte, with contributions by Mario Sánchez Aguilar, Nad’a Vondrová, Stefan Zehetmeier, Sarah Seleznyov, and Jorryt van Bommel.

The biggest part of these proceedings consists of the sections corresponding to the TWGs. These sections start with an introduction by the TWG leadership team. According to the team’s choice, this is a 4-page introduction presenting the contributions, or an extended 8-page one, which proposes an additional analysis of the current research on the theme of the TWG, and perspectives for the future. Next, the section consists of the paper and poster contributions – in alphabetical order by first author’s name.

These CERME13 proceedings result from a collaboration, involving the CERME13 IPC and LOC, the TWG leaders and co-leaders. Particular thanks are due to Nathalie Kuijpers for her editorial work. We warmly thank all these people for their involvement, and hope that this volume will contribute to the development of mathematics education research in Europe and beyond.
